

HEALTH AND SAFETY: Completing Risk Assessments

This half-day course is for supervisors and managers with responsibility for assessing risks as part of their management responsibilities. It is designed to give managers all they need to be able to competently identify the hazards present in their workplace, assess the associated risks and recommend the appropriate control measures.

The course can be held either within the training company's premises or on the clients own premises, provided that suitable accommodation is available.